

I. Description

A. Alright. This is a duplicate of Katina Base. There's no real info on it except for what I've done with it. It's a panzer class planetary defense station. This is on Fortuna Base. Fortuna is an ice ball. You're basically taking Katina Base and shoving it in an icy planet full of snow dunes. The installation is a little covered in snow. The base goes on 190ish levels underground, but that's out of the picture anyway. Just thought I'd throw that in. Other than the snow dunes and Fortuna Base, there's rustling wind and very cold out. No ships landing or anything like that.

II. Story Scene

A. It was a cold and crisp winter evening on Fortuna. The portion of Fortuna that Colonel Grey's base was on was in the full swing of winter. Temperatures outside dipped well below -30 C. It was always winter on Fortuna. Nobody would dare go outside without a pressure suit on..
